A minister once told Wendell Phillips that if his business in life was to save negroes he ought to go to the South, where they were and do it. "That is worth thinking of," replied Phillips; "and what is your business in life?" "To save men from going to hell," replied the minister. "Then go there and attend to your business," said Mr. Phillips.

THE PROMISES.—"So you liked to have been drowned, eh? Pray, sir, what did you think when you were clinging to the bottom of the boat?"

"Oh! bless you sir, I thought I was taking the last look at the land, and never thought to have been here now."

"You ought to have laid hold on the promises."

"Promises, sir! why, what kind of promises is there for a man who has led such a life as I have?"

"Why, the very best kind of promises to be sure—he that is born to be hanged will never be drowned."

No one knows who invented the fashion in society of turning down the corner of a visiting card; but the fashion of turning down the corner of a street was first thought of by the man who owed a small bill to the tradesman he saw approaching.—N. Y. Commercial.

Some of the high-toned would-be fashionable people of Fifth avenue, New York, are giving receptions at which only French is spoken. Something still more remarkable would be a swell party at which only good English was spoken.—N. O. Picayune.

AVARICE.

BY R. T. A. MACEY.

Love wreathed his brow with sunny smiles
And boldly knocked at Gripus' door,
"Begone," cries he, "I know your wiles;
I've seen your pretty face before.
The fool to think I'd e'er permit
So fair a spendthrift o'er my sill;
No, let me midst my coffers sit,
And count my gains in silence still."

Affection came with gentle mien,
Her prayer preferred in burning tears:
Says Gripus, "If I e'er have seen
Your form before, then by-gone years
May settle up the bills unpaid;
I've thrown such silly trash aside—
'Tis far the poorest stock in trade;
For folly's winds control the tide,
And grief and care the gains divide."

Benevolence and charity,
With trembling limbs, stood at his gate;
"Whom have we now? What do I see?
Humph! let the tender milk-sops wait.
Nor nearer come, I have no place
To quarter such insatiate guests,
Nor gold to give—let others trace
Their course as me,—with them it rests
To toil and strive, not make requests."

Fame, clothed in all her bright attire,
Her brazen trumpet in her hand;
Essayed to tell of something higher
Than gold,—she called it yellow sand.
But Gripus, though he showed some sign
Of wincing at so grand a view;
Thought 'twould be well to see the shine
Of glory and of money too;—
A thing quite difficult to do.

In short, each suitor turned away,
Disgusted with the craven lout;
Convinced that to prolong their stay,
Would not insure their dining out.
Well pleased, moreover, to escape
From breathing such polluted air,
Where even holy things took shape
From the consuming, anxious care—
The thirst for lucre reigning there.

There came, one day, another guest,
Less welcome far than those of yore;
One who announced a high behest,
And urged the shrinking victim sore;
"What, leave my gold?" old Gripus cries,
"To go whence none return again?"
"Ay, leave your gold," his guide replies;
"For none can pass death's dark domain,
Save what earth's sordid souls retain.

HOME.

That word home always sounds like poetry to me. It rings like a peal of bells at a wedding, only more soft and sweet, and it chimes deeper into the ears of my heart. It does not matter whether it means thatched cottage or manor-house, home is home; be it ever so homely, there is no place on earth like it. Green grows the house-leek on the roof forever, and let the moss flourish on the thatch. Sweetly the sparrows chirrup and the swallows twitter around the chosen spot which is my joy and rest. Every bird loves its own nest; the owls think the old ruins the fairest spot under the moon, and the fox is of the opinion that his hole in the hill is remarkably cosy. When my master's nag knows that his head is toward home he wants no whip, but thinks it best to put on all steam; and I am always of the same mind, for the way home, to me, is the best bit of road in the country. I like to see the smoke out of my own chimney better than the fire on another mans,s hearth; there's something so beautiful in the way it curls up among the trees. Cold potatoes on my own table taste better than roast meat at my neighbor's and the honeysuckle at my door is the sweetest I ever smell. When you are out, friends do their best, but still it is not home. "Make yourself at home," they say, because everybody knows to feel at home is to feel at ease.—John Ploughman.

A WISE SERPENT.—Mr. M. of our sister city, West Point, was down on the river fishing last Summer, when he discovered a very wise serpent. He was sitting near a rock, under which was a snake's den. The proprietor of the den came gliding up from a foraging expedition, and was disappearing in the hole under the rock, when, with a dexterous movement, Captain M. seized him and threw him twenty feet away: The snake hardly knew what had happened, and again essayed to enter his domicil in the same manner. Again he was treated as before. Never despairing, for a third time the wiley serpent approached the rock. This time he came deliberately, as if carefully contemplating the situation. Arriving at the mouth of the hole, this time he deliberately coiled himself up and put out his long tongue, as if to take in the full situation. For a while he maintained this defenseless position, when he carefully began to uncoil, at the same time disappearing tail foremost into the den. This story is fully warranted by Captain M., who stands ready to testify to its correctness.—Hamilton, Ga., Journal.

SMILES.—The ladies have many kinds. There is the smile of recognition—there is the smile of coincidence in opinion—the smile of encouragment when we were attemping something difficult—the smiles of approbation when it is done—the smiles of amused fancy of our conversation—the smile of hope, if we venture to aspire. But the great smile, the smile imperial, is that which says, plainer than words, "you have won me!" That smile never leaves the memory, even after she who gave it has mouldered in the tomb.

Bells were first set up in churches as a defense against thunder and lightning. The first bell hung in England was in 945. Chimes were invented in Belgium in 1487.

Wealth does not always improve us. A man, as he gets to be worth more, may become worth-less.

STABILITY.

If others, in profession prove
As false to thee as "baseless dreams;"
If others dreams all merge in naught
But futile, frail, and fruitless schemes;

If in thy conflicts for the true,
The tongue of malice mars thy name,
And foes, in secret, strive to blast
Thy dear, and fair, and well-earned fame;—

Be thou like yon old mountain oak;
Of sturdy mien, in purpose strong,
Nor falter thou, nor never change,
From holy right to sinful wrong.

Let not success unbalance mind;
In adverse times, be honest then;
Maintain the Truth, and thou shalt march
A monarch in the van of Men.

James Buchanan Evans was one of the head clerks in the Treasury Department eighteen years ago and a great favorite in Washington society. He was a noted wit, a graceful dancer, wealthy, and a free drinker. A Miss Harvey was a Washington belle. She belonged to a Norfolk family and had been carefully reared. This couple caused a social flutter by eloping and getting married. They did not return and were soon forgotten in the circles in which they had moved. Even their relatives lost sight of them. A few days ago, while a woman was singing and dancing on the stage of a concert-saloon at Milwaukee, she was told that her husband was lying unconscious in a bar-room. It was common for him to get drunk and she attached little importance to the message, but her daughter, also a performer, went to see her father and found him dying from a fractured skull. He was the once-courted James Buchanan Evans and had become a sot. The woman was the former belle, Miss Harvey, and she had turned her accomplishments to account in a low form of the show business.—Detroit Tribune.

UNIFORM TIME IN PARIS.—The unification of the time at Paris will soon become a reality, and not a mere project. The central clock will be placed in the cellars of the Observatory, at a sufficient depth to escape from vibration and from atmospheric variations. To this clock a main conducting wire will be attached. This wire will be conveyed to the sewer under the Avenue de l'Observatoire, where it will branch off in a number of small wires, each of which will pass along the sewers in different directions, and be put in communication with the clocks in different parts of the town. Each movement of the hands of the chief clock at the Observatory will be reproduced simultaneously on all the dials which will be connected with it. The system adopted is very simple and if the first trial succeeds, the day may come when Paris will have only one clock, that of the Observatory.—Parisian.

GOING THROUGH THE MOTIONS.—There was a fellow who, unfortunately for himself and family, from being a pretty good husband, took to drinking, and soon became an idle, trifling vagabond. Coming home one night, after having, as usual, been on a debauch, he began to call lustily—"wife! wife! I say give me some supper!" The poor wife, who, while she could do so, provided for the family by her own toil, informed him, with tears in her eyes, that there was nothing to get a supper out of. "What," said he, "haven't you a piece of cold meat?" "No!" "Give me a crust of bread, then." He was told there was none. "What! have you nothing—nothing;" "Nothing at all," replied the poor wife, "not even a crumb." After a pause—"Very well! very well! give me a clean plate, knife and fork. By Jupiter! I'll go thro' the motions anyhow, if I starve afterwards!"

The celebrated Hogarth was one of the most absentminded of men. Soon after he set up his carriage, he had occasion to pay a visit to the Lord Mayor. When he went, the weather was fine; but he was detained by business till a violent shower of rain came on. Being let out of the mansion house by a different door from that at which he had entered, he immediately began to call for a hackney coach.

Not one could be procured, on which Hogarth braved the storm, and actually reached his house in Leicesterfield without bestowing a thought on his carriage, till Mrs. Hogarth, astonished to see him so wet and hurried, asked him where he had left it.

The man who has no enemies, is a mere drone in the great hive of created intelligence. He is a milk and water man, who contents himself with doing no harm, while it is notorious that he is doing no good. Such men are time serving, demagogue riding, gobetweens, who creep after men of position and property, and hypocritically bow to men in the humble walks of life; take no part in public sentiment, and smile and smirk upon all they come in contact with. They glide through life undisturbed, and sink to obscure graves, unwept, unhonored and unsung.

The other day after the arrival of the boat from Boulogne at Folkestone, whilst the luggage was being transferred to the train, a Frenchman, in a state of excitement, kept demanding, in a boisterous manner, to know the whereabouts of his trunk. An Irish porter, after several times replying to the interrogatory, thus put an end to the troublesome questioning. "Och, mister, I wish you were an elephant, for thin ye have your trunk always under yez."

THE STANDARD MINE.

The following is the annual report of Wm. Irwin, Superintendent of the Standard mine:

During the year we have stoped and raised to the surface 29,252 tons of ore, at cost of $9 82½ per ton, which includes all work done in prospecting and developing the mine, as well as the running expenses, and the cost of hoisting the ore and delivering it at the tramway for shipment to the mill. The actual cost of taking out ore has not been kept separately, having kept the total expense of the mine in one account. As you will see from the amount of ore now developed in the mine, and the amount of work done in opening the drifts, etc., the actual cost of stoping and delivering the ore on the surface is very much less than $9 82½ per ton. During the year drifts have been run to the amount of 2,502 feet; crosscuts, 1,557 feet; have sunk winze 300 feet; vertical shaft 30 feet, and have made upraises 511 feet. There has been a very marked

IMPROVEMENT IN THE MINE

During the year; the ore body found on the 385-foot level of vertical shaft—and since developed by winze 210 feet, and upraise 240 feet—has exceeded in size and quality of ore ore our most sanguine expectations. This ledge has been opened by drifts a length of 900 feet, and in the top of the upraise, 240 ft above the level, the ledge is 10 feet wide, and in the bottom of the winze it shows a width of 8 feet; this gives us a body of ore 900 ft long, and at the point where it is prospected by winze and upraise, 450 feet in depth. Our present stopes on this ledge show a width of 25 feet. Now, I think it is a very safe statement to say that this ledge will average throughout its entire dimensions at least 5 feet of ore. We have also drifted south on the Cook ledge, 700 feet to the southern boundary of the mine. The Cook ledge is the north extension of the Burgess vein in the Bodie mine, which vein

PRODUCED THE RICHEST ORE

Ever found in Bodie district; the ledge in this drift will average 2 feet wide. There has been one upraise made from this drift of 40 feet, showing a ledge in the top 5 feet wide, but as yet the press of other work has prevented us from making any further explorations. It is, of course, impossible to tell how it will hold out in depth, but we expect in a short time to be able to commence operations in the way of sinking etc., in this portion of the mine.

The ore taken from the mine during the past year has been stoped from the following places: 400-foot level north, 5,000 tons; 300-foot level south, 500 tons; 450-foot level south, 1,500 tons; 450-foot level north 1,250 tons; Cook ledge, 500 tons, Gildea ledge 2,500 tons. West Standard ledge, 3,000 tons; 550-foot level south drift, 8,000 tons; and from the north drif 385-foot level, 6,975 tons.

We are at present sinking the

MAIN THREE COMPARTMENT SHAFT

Which has reached a depth of 760 feet, the bottom being in a very favorable prophyry formation. Crosscuts are being run from this shaft at the 700 level, east and west, but as yet have not reached the point where we expect to cut the ledge. We are also crosscutting east from the 500-foot level, and expect in a very short time to have a ledge in this crosscut. We are having a thorough survey and working plan made of the workings of the mine, which I expected to have in time of this report, but it is not yet finished, consequently my report is necessarily very incomplete.

The Standard mill has crushed during the year 19,206 tons of ore, at a cost of $7 07 per ton. There have been several very unfortunate accidents to the machinery, among which was the breaking of the engine shaft and fly-wheel, causing with other previous breakages, a long delay in the working of the mill. These repairs have now been made, and now the mill is in good order in every respect.

The Syndicate Mill has crushed for us, during the year, 9,246 tons, for which we have paid $12 per ton, but, as the Bulwer-Standard mill is now completed, and the ore milled at the Standard Mill has cost us only $7 07 per ton, there will be in the future a great saving in the cost of reducing ore. We now have at Standard mill, a full supply of fuel, salt, soda, quicksilver, chemicals, etc., and at the mine a supply of fuel, iron, steel, mining tools, lumber, timber, etc.

The Standard mine has never looked as well as it does at the present time, either in the amount of ore exposed or the facilities for extracting it. With our present machinery at the mine and the splendid condition of the mills we are in a position to make a long and prosperous run.

The total bullion product actual and estimated, was $1,461,825.

By the Secretary's report it is shown that dividends aggregating $550,000 were paid. Receipts were $1,442,376; disbursements, $1,309,169, leaving a balance on hand of $133,206.

The San Francisco Bulletin says:

The amount of base coin in the office of the Sub-Treasurer is about $14,000. These one, three and five cent coins are now in quite common use. The banks now pay checks up to the last cent, and grocers are beginning to return exact change. To the old Californians the new system seems very odd.

White Pine appears to be coming to the front again as a mining camp. The Eureka papers say several former residents of that place are talking strongly of going back there in the spring. Lot jumping, in anticipation of the spring boom, is being carried on extensively at Hamilton.

It is believed that 1880 is to be one of the best years for stock ever experienced in Southern California.

COAST.

Charter Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—The matter of the application for a writ of prohibition against the Election Commissioners to test the call for the election of fifteen freeholders to frame a charter, for adoption by this city, came up for argument before the Supreme Court in bank at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Alfred A. Cohen appeared as counsel for the petitioner, and Charles L. Taylor, John F. Swift and Joseph P. Hoge for respondents. At the conclusion of the arguments the Court took the matter under advisement; but in the course of its remarks seemed to foreshadow a decision for respondents.

In Council.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—The Election Commissioners are holding a meeting this evening, with a view of arriving at some concert of action with the San Mateo Commissioners, relating to having the election of a joint Senator at the same time as the election of freeholders to frame a charter.

Gannon Sentenced.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—In the Police Court this morning, agitator Gannon was sentenced to six months imprisonment, and to pay a fine of $1,000. A motion for a new trial was made.

An Appeal.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20—This afternoon the counsel for Gannon filed a notice of appeal and furnished bonds for $3,000. An order was issued for Gannon's release from the House of Correction.

A Banquet.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—DeLesseps was banqueted at the Palace Hotel last night by leading French citizens.

Sent up.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—The Police Judge denied Gannon's motion for a new trial, and in default of $3,000 bail pending an appeal, he was at noon sent to the House of Correction. There are rumors that further arrests are to be made.

A Man Drowned.

SACRAMENTO, March 20.—On the night of the 13th instant Manuel Domingos Aravide a Portuguese, stole several sacks of flour from a wharf at Clarksburg, and putting them into a boat, pushed off into the river. He was pursued by D. G. Weber, when Aravide sprang into the river and was drowned.

Killed.

SACRAMENTO, March 20.—David Cross, while intoxicated, fell from his truck on Eighth street and was killed by the wheels passing over him.

EASTERN.

The Chinese Army.

NEW YORK, March 20.—The Herald, noticing an order received by the Winchester Arms Company, to make from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 cartridges for the Chinese government, says: "This is the first order we believe, ever given by the Chinese government to foreigners for the manufacture of cartridges. It is rumored that immense numbers of guns have been bought in England and shipped to China for use against the Russians, but Great Britian could not supply the proper amount of cartridges. It is believed the Chinese have been quietly arming ever since Beaconsfield has been in office; that English officers have been training Chinese troops, and Beaconsfield is determined to execute a grand coup and to astonish the world by bringing China to the front as a great military power to checkmate the designs of Russia in Central Asia. The seizure of Herat by Persian Government, with the sanction of England, it is said to be next in order, and it is believed that at the very crisis of the Parliamentary canvass in England the fact will come out that with the help of the Chinese and Persians, the Russians will be driven out of Central Asia, and all fears that England may lose India be set at rest for this question.

POLITICAL.

A Secret Comes to Light.

CHICAGO, March 20.—The Inter-Ocean's Washington special says a bit of the secret history of the contemplated retirement of Judge Hunt from the Supreme Bench and the appointment of Edmunds has come out. The latter had decided to accept the appointment, as he preferred that to Senatorial service. Just here, however, Conkling at whose instance Grant appointed Hunt, stepped in and said a New York man should succeed Hunt, and as he could expect nothing from Hayes' administration, he prevailed upon Justice Hunt to reconsider his determination to retire.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—In the Senate yesterday the memorial of Susan B. Anthony was presented, asking for the removal of her political disabilities, and complaining that while the prayers of men have been granted for such purpose, those of women are denied. She asks to receive the same consideration as if her name was Samuel B. Anthony.

More Crookedness.

PRESCOTT Arizona, March 20.—Hon. J. F. Gasper, Secretary of Arizona Territory, and his partner, Amos M. Smith, were arrested here to-day for violating the revenue law in selling tobacco without license. There examination is now progressing before the United States Court Commissioner.

A Good Thing.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 20.—A great scheme for the colonization of Northern Mexico is being arranged here which, if consummated, will settle the border question.

Negroes

NEW ORLEANS, March 29.—The striking negroes had stripped eighteen plantations when nine of the ringleaders were arrested by State artillery.

Duel.

RICHMOND, March 20.—A duel occurred this morning in Brunswick county between R. A. Raney, a lawyer, and Richard Jolly, a salesman. The origin of the dispute was an argument about the readjustment of the State debt, Raney was shot in the right arm and insisted on a second shot. The constables have arrested the party.

High Life Scandal.

DETROIT, March 20.—A long dispatch from this place is devoted to the Chistiancy scandal. Henry E. Christiancy, son of the Minister and Chief Clerk of the Custom House, pronounces as an infernal lie the statement that his father sold out to Chandler. Mrs. Christiancy says her husband is a bad man and she will obtain a divorce from him; and he says she is a very bad woman and he will get a divorce.

The Campaign.

LONDON, March 20.—The campaign increases in activity. The Liberals seem confident. Their organs predict an overwhelming victory. Gladstone's speeches occupy more space in the newspapers than those of all the other candidates put together. Gladstone made a bitter denunciation of Austria in his speech at Edinburgh. A correspondent reported that the Emperor of Austria had told the British Ambassador that as Gladstone disapproves of Austria's foreign policy, he would advise them to vote for the retention of the Beaconsfield Ministry. "Austria," he said "has ever been the unflinching enemy of freedom in every country of Europe, and there is not a spot on the whole map where one could place his finger and says that Austria had done good."

John Bright, speaking at Birmingham, said: "We are at this moment witnessing the dying hours of the worst of modern Parliaments, and beholding the worst of administration ever brought up for judgment."

The Conservatives are conducting the campaign more quietly, but every doubtful seat will be contested to the bitter end.

The defeat of the Gorley bill is looked upon as a final release from all arbitrary mining legislation at the present session. It is now too late to try to get a duplicate bill through.—S. F. Bulletin.

THE CHRONICLE.

BODIE, MARCH 22, 1880.

The CHRONICLE Office is on the second floor of "Goodson's Building," east side of Main street, between Standard Avenue and Green street.

JOB PRINTING.—Job printing of the finest description will be furnished at this office at Sacramento prices.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

ARRIVED YESTERDAY.

DEPARTURES YESTERDAY.

Dan Cameron, Mrs Wenzell, E L Lusk, J C Hagerman, C A Richardson, D O'Leary, E Morano, Wm Kelly, T Dodds.

ACCIDENT.—About 7 o'clock yesterday morning William Best, fireman at the Champion hoisting works, had his right leg broken just above the ankle, and ankle dislocated, by getting caught between the pump rod and wall, a space of about four inches. The rod struck him with the result as above. He was brought to his room on Mono street, where his injuries were attended to by Dr. Robertson. Last evening he was resting comfortably.

A BRAVE BOY.—A four horse wagon, loaded with lumber, was standing in front of Stewart & Co's lumber yard on Saturday, when a little boy mounted the load and, by so doing, started the team. When opposite the school house a little boy rushed out and getting before the horses, checked them by crying "whoa, whoa," and waving his hat. The driver then put in an appearance, and took charge of the team before any damage could be done.

ITS INFLUENCE.—The influence of our carpet-bag friends has, thus far, affected us to the extent of a saloon keeper stopping the CHRONICLE. This deprives the carrier and this office of a weekly divided income of 25 cents. It would be a good joke for them to wait upon the merchants, hotels and restaurants on the same mission—but they might meet their creditors.

ROUGH SPORT.—Quite an excitement was created about 9 o'clock last evening at Senate Saloon, by two men indulging in a Roman wrestling match. They finally became excited and the affair wound up in a broken nose for one, and a cut on the forehead for the other.

AN ASSAULT.—Nick Baule was arrested on Saturday night for drawing a deadly weapon on a hostler employed at Clugguge & Co's. Stables. His case will be looked into this morning at 10 o'clock in Justice Peterson's Court.

BURGLARY.—A house on Bonanza street was burglarized about two o'clock yesterday morning, while the fair but frail inmates were at a masquerade ball, and a seal skin coat, a gold chain and locket stolen.

PERSONAL.—By yesterday's stage, C. A. Richardson, of the firm of Salsbury & Richardson, left for Sacramento,, to look after the bill providing for the appointment of another Superior Judge for this county, to hold his court in Bodie.

AIR COMPRESSOR.—The air compressor for the Bodie tunnel has arrived at the tunnel, and to-day they will commence putting it up, and expect to have it running within ten days.

HAND VS. POWER.—Better an occasional "slur" from the CHRONICLE'S paid-up hand-press than a "clean" sheet from our evening cotemporary's mortgaged power-press.

QUIET.—Yesterday was a beautiful Spring day and everybody was out doors enjoying it, as well as one could with our streets in the condition they are. The day passed quietly, and items were scarce.

SPAULDING MILL.—This fine mill, which is fully completed, will commence running within a few days, but not on Noonday ore, as was reported.

BOSTON CON,
Martin Jones, Sup't.

The main incline shaft has reached a depth of 64 feet below the 200 level station, and timbered to the bottom, the rock in the bottom is blasting well. This incline is in favorable looking porphyry, having changed almost entirely in appearance since passing the station at the 200 level, and similar in character to the bird's eye porphyry of the Comstock lode. Progress during the week 15 feet, and if the ground remains as favorable as at present, will reach the 300 level by April 10th, and station cut out ready to start crosscut east to cut the vein. The north drift, 200 level, progress for the week 14 feet. The face of this is now in a large vein, mostly quartz, with improved appearance. Are working at the ore dump and will complete it in a few days. The machinery is in good condition and working well,

ORO.
Thomas Steel, Sup't.

The west crosscut (tunnel level) is now in 240 feet—a progress since last report of 35 feet. The face still continuing in low grade quartz and porphyry. The main shaft is now 100 feet below the first level—total depth 339 feet, a progress since last report of 29 feet; the water remaining about the same in quantity. We have to draw 1 inch by inch as we proceed. Now putting in square sets of timber in place of the cribbing, necessitating an enlargement of the shaft. The formation in the bottom has not altered materially since last report.

HOMER M. & M. Co.
Martin Jones, Sup't.

The tunnel has been advanced during the past week eight feet, making a total length of 179 feet. This work is now being carried forward with two shifts of men working ten hours. A branch drift has been started on the Seneca, vein, 154 feet from the mouth of the tunnel, running south west toward the Nioma vein. This drift has been advanced five feet, and the face in the vein is fully 3 feet in thickness of high grade ore. The freight sent forward last week is now being received at the mine. A house has been built on the mill-site, and work commenced on the water rights, having started a drift from the main stream near the head of the upper falls.

BOOKER.
A. M. Ellsworth, Sup't.

This mine has been shut down for a few days on account of breaking the pump bob. A new bob will be put in on the south side of the shaft. A solid foundation will be put in and the bob put down some 22 feet. It will take about two weeks to do the work.

GIPSEY QUEEN.
A. M. Ellsworth, Sup't.

The engine is in place, and boiler set. The reel will be put on to-day. Colonel Ellsworth expect to get the works running and commence sinking within a week or ten days.

ORIGINAL SUMMIT.
A. M. Ellsworth, Sup't.

The shaft is down 154 feet—a progress of 54 feet for the month. Crosscutting still going on and with flattering prospects.

The Connecticut House, yesterday, by a vote of 100 to 98, passed a bill for female suffrage on license matters.

Water Pipe of boiler and sheet iron of any size, made in suitable lengths for connecting together, or sheets rolled, punched and packed for shipment, ready to be riveted on the ground.
